Dr. Robert Miller

"The grace and beauty of the horse enthralls us today in the same way it enthralled caveman artists of many millennia ago. Horses are living works of art."

Richard Shrake

"Remember to go slow and do your homework."

"If you listen, your horse will tell you when he is ready to move on. Patience is the key."

Rick Lamb

"A horse won't ever mistake you for another horse, but he'll be more responsive if you act a little like one."

Dale Myler

"If you've got tension in the horse's tongue you've got tension throughout the whole body."

Lester Buckley

"You can lead a horse to water, but you can't make him drink. You can, however, give him a little salt."

Sharon Camarillo

"Winning runs are not answers to prayers; they don't come by luck or fate. Winning runs are created through preparation, practice and experience, and are manifested when the opportunity to excel presents itself."

David W. Bodin

"The bad news about the majority of horse trailers is that, for the most part, they are not built to last."
